Read the following instructions very carefully and strictly follow them :

- (i) This question paper has 13 questions. All questions are compulsory.
- (ii) This question paper contains three sections Section A: Reading Skills, Section B: Creative Writing Skills and Section C: Literature.
- (iii) Attempt all questions based on specific instructions for each part. Write the correct question number and part thereof in your answer sheet.
- (iv) Separate instructions are given with each question/part, wherever necessary.
- (v) Adhere to the prescribed word limit while answering the questions.

SECTION A- Reading Skills(22 marks)

1. Read the following passage carefully : (12 marks)

(1) Artificial Intelligence (AI) is no longer a concept confined to science fiction movies; it is a reality that is reshaping the world as we know it. From personalized recommendations on streaming platforms to autonomous vehicles, AI is embedded in the fabric of modern life. It refers to the simulation of human intelligence in machines that are programmed to think like humans and mimic their actions. The term may also be applied to any machine that exhibits traits associated with a human mind such as learning and problem-solving.

(2) One of the most significant impacts of AI is in the healthcare sector. AI algorithms are being used to diagnose diseases with greater accuracy and speed than human doctors. For instance, AI can analyze medical images to detect early signs of cancer that might be missed by the human eye. Furthermore, predictive analytics can help hospital administrators better manage resources, ensuring that patient care is optimized.

(3) However, the integration of AI into society is not without its challenges. A major concern is the displacement of jobs. As machines become more capable, there is a fear that they will replace human workers in various industries, from manufacturing to customer service. While proponents argue that AI will create new types of jobs, the transition period could be difficult for those whose skills become obsolete.

(4) Another ethical dilemma involves data privacy. AI systems require vast amounts of data to learn and improve. This reliance on data raises questions about how personal information is collected, stored, and used. There have been instances where AI systems have been found to be biased, reflecting the prejudices present in the data they were trained on. This can lead to unfair treatment in areas such as hiring and law enforcement.

(5) Despite these challenges, the potential benefits of AI are immense. In education, AI can provide personalized learning experiences, adapting to the pace and style of individual students. In environmental conservation, AI models are being used to track wildlife populations and monitor climate change indicators. The key lies in developing responsible AI—systems that are transparent, fair, and accountable.

(6) As we move forward, it is crucial for policymakers, technologists, and society at large to engage in a dialogue about the future of AI. Regulations must be put in place to ensure that the technology is used for the greater good. Education systems need to evolve to prepare the workforce for an AI-driven economy. By balancing innovation with ethical considerations, we can harness the power of AI to solve some of humanity's most pressing challenges.

Answer the following questions, based on the above passage:

- (i) What is the primary function of AI as described in paragraph 1? (1)
- (ii) How is AI revolutionizing the healthcare sector according to the passage? (1)

(iii) Read the following sentence:

"The transition period could be difficult for those whose skills become obsolete."

The concern the above statement points towards is: (1)

(A) The rise of new industries.

(B) The potential for unemployment due to automation.

(iv) How does bias occur in AI systems as mentioned in paragraph 4? (1)

(v) Provide one textual evidence with reference to paragraph 5, to prove the following:
The education sector can benefit significantly from AI integration. (1)

(vi) Complete the analogy with one word from paragraph 5:
Hidden : Transparent :: Biased : _____ (1)

(vii) Mention one specific application of AI in environmental conservation. (1)

(viii) Assess the role of policymakers in the future of AI as outlined in paragraph 6. (2)

(ix) Which of the following is NOT a benefit of AI mentioned in the passage? (1)

- (A) Disease diagnosis
- (B) Resource management in hospitals
- (C) Emotional companionship
- (D) Wildlife tracking

(x) "The key lies in developing responsible AI." Explain what the author means by 'responsible AI'. (2)

2. Read the following passage carefully :

(10 marks)

(1) Introduction: The shift towards electric vehicles (EVs) is gaining momentum globally as a strategy to combat climate change. This case study analyzes consumer perception regarding EVs in India, focusing on the factors influencing the decision to switch from Internal Combustion Engine (ICE) vehicles.

(2) Methodology: A survey was conducted involving 2,000 car owners across metro and tier-2 cities. Participants were asked about their willingness to buy an EV and the barriers preventing them from doing so.

(3) Survey Examination: The study looked at various parameters such as initial cost, running cost, environmental impact, and infrastructure.

(4) Results: The following table illustrates the primary concerns of potential buyers:

S. No.	Concern / Factor	% of Respondents (Metro)	% of Respondents (Tier-2)	Reason for Concern
1.	High Initial Cost	65%	78%	EVs are priced higher than petrol cars.
2.	Range Anxiety	55%	70%	Fear of running out of charge.
3.	Charging Infrastructure	60%	85%	Lack of charging stations on highways.
4.	Running Cost Savings	15% (Concern)	10% (Concern)	Most see this as a benefit, not a concern.
5.	Environmental Benefit	80% (Motivator)	65% (Motivator)	Desire to reduce carbon footprint.

(5) Implications: The data suggests that while environmental awareness is high, economic factors and infrastructure reliability remain significant hurdles. Metro cities show higher readiness compared to Tier-2 cities, largely due to better infrastructure availability.

(6) Conclusion: To accelerate EV adoption, stakeholders must address the 'range anxiety' and cost disparity. Government subsidies and rapid expansion of charging networks are critical.
